Independence Day Is Double Holiday For Lake Region

Large Crowd of Visitors are Expected at Resorts Over Weekend

Independence Day, like Memorial Day, draws a double holiday this year.

Because Independence Day falls on Sunday, it will be celebrated on July 5 this year and with labor at a five-day week schedule it is probable that the celebration will start Friday night and last until Monday night.

The weekend plus Monday will mean that resorts in this area will undoubtedly enjoy extra business and a large crowd of visitors is expected.

Because of the congestion on the lakes there will be no speed boat races this weekend, but that is not saying there won't be any of the power boats on the lakes for pleasure purposes. There will be plenty.

Business houses in Antioch which cater to the vacationist trade will be open at least part of the day Monday but otherwise business houses will close for the day.

Enforcement of the law regarding the use of fireworks has driven fireworks from the shelves of stores and the roadsides stands are said to be missing to a great extent this year. The noisy demonstration of the holiday with its toll in injuries from firecrackers is gradually becoming a thing of the past.

The usual toll in auto accidents is expected, however.

Liquor Commission Says Licenses Expire Today, Examiners Start Check

Charles J. Fleck, Chairman of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, today warned all tavern and package store owners, and other liquor licensees that they must secure license for the period beginning July 1, 1948 on or before July 1. The existing liquor licenses expire June 30, 1948.

There is no automatic renewal of liquor licenses. All operators licensed by the state, except holders of Non-Beverage Users Licenses (a minority license) must apply for new licenses. Persons or firms operating without licenses after July 1 are subject to the penalties provided by law for such violation.

Wholesalers who sell to unlicensed operators are subject to license revocation for selling to unlicensed persons. Application for liquor license, accompanied by fee, may be made either by mail or personally. Those operating in Cook, DuPage, DeKalb, Kane, Lake, McHenry, Boone, Will and Kane counties should apply at the office of the Commission, State of Illinois Building, 160 N. La Salle Street, Chicago. Those in downstate areas should apply at the Springfield office of the Commission in the Centennial Building.

Immediately after July 1, the field investigators of the Commission will start checking in the field and will issue Arrest Orders to those without licenses, or evidence of application.

Both the Chicago and Springfield offices additional help has been provided so that applications may be handled expeditiously.

Fleck has recommended to the judges hearing liquor license cases that cost be imposed upon those who do not make application for license immediately.

Meeting At Lake Villa

An old fashion gospel meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday at the village hall in Lake Villa. It is the only Sunday evening religious meeting in the region and the public is invited.

Catches 6-Pound Bass

Eugene Staver, Wildwood subdivision, caught a 6-pound bass at its resort Wednesday evening, used a Pfeiffer black plunker for the lure.

Fishing Bulletin No. 13

Between rains and high winds, excellent general fishing conditions were reported today by field men of the Illinois Department of Conservation throughout the Chicago area.

Evening continues the best time for black bass and northern pike, although near-limit catches of bluegills and crappie are day-long occurrences.

In most of the lakes of the Fox Chain bass have been hitting on both surface and under-water plugs, with the black plunker remaining the favorite. Pike (pickereel) have been hitting spoons and plugs.

Minnows continue the favorite attraction for crappie and redworms for bluegills, although flies and small bugs and wobblers have been taking both varieties at times.

Perch fishing in Lake Michigan is very good with plenty of Jumbo Perch being caught.

McHenry Water Carnival Draws Big Crowd Sun.; Next Races on July 11

An estimated 15,000 persons attended the water carnival at McHenry Sunday.

The parade at 10 a. m. was a real success and the water events were all carried out as scheduled and with good participation.

An outstanding feat of interest to this region which supports the Chain O' Lakes Boat club was the defeat of the "Aloha" inboard speedboat by the "Chickie". The Aloha, formerly the Duz and world record holder beat the Chickie two weeks ago and its defeat this time was an upset.

The shell racing, an innovation to this area, was well received. The program lasted until 6:30 p. m.

The next speedboat races will be at the Yacht Club Bohemia one week from this coming Sunday. Most of the racing boats in the E division will be at Davenport, Ia., on the Fourth for the Midwest Powerboat association meet.

Freedom Train Will be in Chicago, Kenosha, Wis.

The strike was settled last Friday when the company agreed to six requirements of the strikers plus retroactive pay to Dec. 1, 1947. The buses in Waukegan and North Chicago started on Monday morning but it was not until the Illinois Commerce Commission granted the electric road 30 to 70 per cent increases in commuter fares that the company agreed to start the trains.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Oftedahl are vacationing at Glacier Park, Yellowstone and North Dakota.

Legion Carnival Next Weekend to Offer Much Fun

Committees Make Final Plans for Annual Event Again on Orchard Street

American Legion post No. 748, assisted by the Ladies auxiliary, will open its annual summer carnival July 8 for four days.

Again situated on the Ackerman property on Orchard st., the carnival will have advantage of the free lighted parking space prepared by the Lions club south of the water tower.

Henry J. Ruggles, now a resident of Lake Catherine will furnish the concessions. Four rides furnished by the Fish Amusement Co., of Richland, Wis., will include the ferris wheel, merry-go-round, chair-o-plane and octopus.

Auxiliary members will serve as cashiers for the rides and as workers in the bingo and refreshment stands. Legion post members will have full charge of the rest of the concessions.

The summer carnival in the past has been the sole means of revenue for the Antioch Legion, officials say, and since the post-war membership has now reached an all-time high of 278 it is necessary that they put forth special effort to raise enough money to carry the post over from one administration to the succeeding one.

William E. Brook is general chairman of the carnival planning committee. Other chairmen are John L. Horan and Ray Morton, grounds; Donald B. Berkeiser, finance; Mrs. Floyd Horton, refreshments; Mrs. John Horan, bingo; Mrs. L. R. Van Patten, Mrs. Anton Johnson and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Sr., veterans craft sales.

Glen Ellyn Board Serves Without Pay in Pulling Village Out of Bad Debt

Glen Ellyn, Ill.—The citizens of this small village, a small residential suburb 20 miles west of Chicago, were treated this week to their first detailed annual report of operations, a modest little six page folder printed in two colors and patterned after annual reports of progressive business concerns.

In what may well establish a new pattern in local government, the Village Board, which functions without pay, gave a detailed accounting of money received and how it was spent in the unique report which was mailed with the water bills.

"We want the citizens to know about their government," Douglas Pillinger, village president and Chicago attorney, said. "We want them to take a more active interest in the affairs of their village; to exercise their obligation and right to participate in the government of their community."

The present village officials, members of a citizens group which took over the government of the village during the depression, when the village of 7500 persons was "so heavily in debt it seemed almost impossible to ever get out," have worked for nearly two decades to clear the village of a debt of more than $100,000.

The body of First Lieutenant Knickelbein was interred in the Cambridge Temporary Military Cemetery in the British Isles but has been returned to this country for final interment at the request of his father, Edward A. Knickelbein, Sr., 487 Lake St., Antioch, Ill. Colonel John N. Gage, Commanding Officer of the Chicago Quartermaster Depot, stated that no information as to delivery dates will be given out earlier than six days prior to the actual delivery. Automatically at this time a telegram will be sent to the parents in most cases the funeral director designated by the next of kin to receive the remains, giving the hour and the day of arrival.

What The Oil Industry Has Done

Is the oil industry, which served us so magnificently during the war and is performing an equally tough job now, an ogre that should be destroyed? The readers of a recent book written by a group of university professors may think it is. These teachers advocate a policy of breaking up and reorganizing the industry, the ultimate result of which could only be nationalization.

In the light of that, it might be a good idea to briefly examine the industry's record.

First of all, how has it treated the consumer? Since 1926, according to government figures, the average wholesale price of all commodities has risen more than 62 per cent; the price of oil products has risen 12 per cent. By contrast, the gasoline tax has jumped some 1400 per cent since 1920.

How has oil dealt with labor? The figures show that its workers are very well paid, and that working conditions have been excellent. No large industry has been more free from strikes and labor-management disputes.

Is oil a monopoly? Thousands of companies are doing business. New ones are appearing all the time. The consumer has a choice of hundreds of advertised brand names, every one of which must compete for trade with all the others.

Is oil doing its job? The answer to that is that oil has met a record postwar demand, which no one could have anticipated, with only minor dislocations of the supply-demand relationship. And output will be 8 per cent greater this year than last.

To sum it all up, oil is free enterprise at its best. It typifies efficiency and economy in its operation. To destroy the industry as it is now constituted would work irreparable harm on this country and the world.

Cure Worse Than Disease

Just how important a part proposals for price control and rationing of commodities will play in the pending political campaigns remains to be seen. Some candidates will undoubtedly urge them, on the theory that they may have a strong appeal to voters faced with a shrinking dollar. Under these circumstances, the people should give considerable thought to the problems involved.

First of all, no one is going to make anything or produce anything at a loss. We could, for instance, establish by law a ceiling price of two-bits a dozen on eggs and two dollars on a pair of shoes. The farmer and the shoe manufacturer would then, from necessity, turn to other products or call it a day.

We could pass a law saying that retailers must sell goods at such and such a price, regardless of wholesale costs or the costs of doing business. Then, also from necessity, the retailer would have to stop ordering those goods unless he were willing to gradually go broke.

We could issue ration books once more, on the grounds that this would allocate scarce commodities equitably. And then the scarce goods would flow into the black market, where they could be bought only by the well heeled few—just as they did under OPA, and just as they are doing everywhere in the world where rationing remains in effect.

The only cure for inflation lies in individual thrift, a reduction in the cost of government, and in maximum production by labor, management and everyone else. Artificial controls always deal with effects and never with causes. And they always create a worse situation than that they are supposed to correct.

Mass Medicine

Suppose, next time you feel ill and want a doctor, this happened:

You have long been a patient of Dr. Smith's, and you call for an appointment. However, a new regulation has gone into effect saying that Dr. Smith can't take care of you any longer, and you must go to Dr. Jones.

You call Dr. Jones. He can't give you an appointment for a definite hour, unless your case is strictly of an emergency nature, so you'll have to wait your turn in his ante room. You arrive and find it crowded. When your name is called he can give you only a few moments of time, make a hurried diagnosis, and then prescribe some government-approved medicine. He hustles you out, because many more patients are waiting, and the law says he must care for them, at a stated fee per head, whether he can provide adequate attention or not.

This gives you a small insight into the way socialized medicine, run by the government, works. The patient is simply a number, to be assigned to this practitioner or that, under a so-called panel system. A doctor's pay and progress depends on how well he pleases his political superiors, and whether he's got a cousin in a position of authority. Under mass medicine, patients are treated pretty much like a group of motor cars coming off an assembly line. If we ever weaken our system of private medicine that will be in prospect for the United States.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

A question that has me befuddled at times is how come folks who are up and coming and alert looking and who appear sharp, like a razor blade—are not sharp. I got in mind, folks figure that socialism and the Govt. can get their foot in some other guy's door—like electric lights and dams, left-handed education diversions, floors under the prune crop, teaching GI's bartending and faro dealing, etc.—are not going to push their other foot into any other door they might fancy.

Right now socialism is trying to jimmy its way into medicine. Up to now lots of fellers running a laundry or a drug store or being a plumber or 1,000 other ways of making a living, have stood by and let Govt. dip in here and dip in there, and never murmured when the socialist squeeze was put on the other guy. It is the other guy's baby—so what—why stew about it.

But sisters and brothers, bless your hearts, socialism is like the measles or the small pox, you don't get 'em in one foot or in one small spot—once the germ is in your system, you finally break out all over.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

SHORT STORY

Moving Day

By EDWARD EARL LEE

THE quitting bell sounded through the office and immediately ordered routine gave way to confusion as workers prepared to leave. That is, all but one. Jerome Clayton remained seated, elbows leaping on the polished top and cupped palms supporting his chin.

Jerry's abstracted gaze watched employees' hurried exits. His emotionless voice answered hastily uttered farewells. Last Friday he had been part of that scene. This Friday . . . well, no use hurrying home to be greeted by four bare walls.

Of course, Helen would take the furniture. She had bought it by installments from her salary. Jerry recalled how her grey eyes lighted with pleasure when first she had seen the suite. "Modernistic Design," she had announced, identifying it.

A slammed door interrupted his reverie causing him to glance up. He recognized the elevator operator and realized the man was taking his last look around to ascertain if all the employees had gone. Jerry hurriedly locked the desk, slapped on his hat and rode down.

It was then he remembered Jack's poker session, pre-arranged for six o'clock. He shrugged. All week he had been groping for a suitable excuse to tell Helen. Now that none was required, he had no desire to sit in at the game. Well, no use mooning around down here. He walked away slowly with no destination in mind, his thoughts tumbling over one another.

So, after a year, this was the end. Helen should have known that Grace meant nothing to him. Had he not done everything except tell her bluntly that he was not interested?

But Helen thought otherwise and had started acting up to that Charlie with the patent-leather hair.

Jerry's thoughts were rudely jerked back to the present by the sound of screeching brakes and the vitriolic tirade of a truck driver. He was crossing a street with the red light against him. Grinning sheepishly he glanced at the street sign to determine his location, then started, surprised. He was only one block from home. His subconscious mind had directed him to the route he habitually followed when returning from work.

Jerry turned the corner slowly. Suddenly his mouth felt dry. There was a sickening void where his stomach should have been. Weights seemed attached to his feet as he shambled on unwillingly, yet unable to stop. In front of the house was the furniture. No chance of his mistaking that "Modernistic Design." One of the draymen went in as Jerry came abreast the dwelling. The second one said:

"Gotta match, pal?"

"No. But will a lighter do?"

"Okay. Thanks."

He accepted the instrument and began the somewhat difficult task

"Beats all," he grumbled between puffs, "how much extra work people can cause. Take this customer, for instance. We get her stuff all packed, drives to her new place, and what happens? Says she's changed her mind and wants it hauled back."

"What!" exclaimed Jerry.

"Yeah," the mover continued. "I was surprised myself. But I think she's nuts. When we get back here she bursts out crying and runs up the steps like . . . Hey, here's your—"

The drayman removed his pipe from between slack lips. He scratched the lobe of his ear with the stem and a puzzled frown wrinkled his face.

He started to pick up a chair to carry in. Then he began to grin.

Dropping the chair, he hoisted the loveseat on his back.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Hooper, Mrs. Edward Langbein and children visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. Traver Ellis and family, at Belvidere last Thursday.

Don Sherwood is building a bungalow on the south bank of Cedar Lake, which has been very much improved during the past few months by the addition of soil and gravel and grading, making a nice wide beach all the way.

F. R. Sherwood, of Chicago, spent the first of last week with the Delbert Sherwood family and visited friends and relatives here.

The Cosmopolitans will present the play "Yes and No", on July 2nd and 3rd at the Lake Villa gym. Curtain at 8:30 sharp.

Special rehearsal was held exclusively for the Cosmos. They learned about the putting on of grease paint, mechanism of sound effects and lighting. It was bewildering to a number of Cosmos who did not understand production of a play had to consider so many angles.

After the preliminary work was finished and the actors took their places on the stage and the rest made up the audience and a good time was had by all.

The club as a whole is looking forward to the curtain rise on Friday evening on what they are confident will be a successful play.

Install Night Cooling now!

How a Night Cooling Fan Works

An attic or window fan in your house or apartment lowers the inside temperature by pulling in cool night air, circulating it through the living quarters and forcing out the blanket of hot, dead air. This moving air speeds the evaporation of skin moisture - thus, you feel cooler immediately!

Sure, it was hot last summer... and it's going to be hot again this year. More than two months of over 85° temperatures are in store for this area... and you! You can plan now to beat the heat - install a night cooling fan in your house or apartment.

Even the hottest days are bearable when you've had a good night's sleep. In a night cooled home, the hot, stifling air that keeps you tossing for hours is drawn out of the rooms... and replaced by cool, refreshing night air from outside. This gently moving air makes you feel cooler... lets you sleep in comfort... and lowers the temperature of the rooms.

Don't wait for the hot weather to get here. Find out about this new way to summer sleeping comfort.

MODERN!

The Waste-Away makes all other methods of garbage disposal old-fashioned. It's the finishing touch to the all-electric kitchen. It saves time and work. It's a must in the plans for modernizing—or for new homes!

As early as 1897, Salomon Andree, a Swedish engineer, took off with two comrades from Dames Island in the desolate group east of northern Greenland in an attempt to cross the polar region by air. Emotional Disturbances,
Not Defective Mind May Cause Child's Slowness

Emotional disturbances and not defective mental ability often may be the cause of a child's slow progress in school. This is the conclusion reached in a special study of 66
Illinois public school children made by Isaac Jolles, psychologist on the staff of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.
The children were referred to the department's division for the education of exceptional children by local school districts as a first step toward taking the children out of classes for the normal and placing them in special classes for the mentally retarded because of their slow progress.

As a protection to these children
the Illinois law, as amended June 13, 1945, requires that no child is eligible for special classes for the mentally handicapped except upon the recommendation of, or with the approval of, a qualified psychological examiner who meets the standards set up by the office of public instruction.

The study by Mr. Jolles, which has been published in the benetic psychology monographs by the Journal Press of Provincetown, Massachusetts, points out that the conclusions reached were possible only by an intensive study of the subjects, and that, because of the time elements involved, could be made only with the approval of Mr. Nick-ell and Ray Graham, Director of Mr.
Jolles' department. Case conferences with school, social and medical professions in each case for the purpose of gathering considerable case history material was necessary to the study.

I. Q. Tests Not Basis
In the introduction to the study
Mr. Jolles points out that too frequently our common accepted and used intelligence tests have formed the basis for segregation in the class room, and that in many instances test scores alone have been used as the basis for establishing eligibility for special classes. While not implying that these tests are poor or should not be used, Jolles does point out that they should not be accepted as the final word in every case.

It is Mr. Jolles' thesis that many clinicians accept the result of the intelligence test alone and fail to offer psychotherapy to children who,
on the basis of intelligence tests are seriously retarded in their mental development. Such children, being possessed of the senses, organs and emotions of the normal, are being denied the things they need for the most efficient development of their personalities. A case history study plus the use of techniques already available for use has indicated that in many instances the child tested is brighter than the intelligence test shows, and that there is a very close connection between the emotional adjustment of the individual at the time of taking the test and the intellectual function. Thus there is a need for a greater use of additional, available techniques and a need for new techniques to assist in detecting factors inhibiting the intellectual functions.

Use Ink Blot Test
The technique which Jolles used to reveal the hidden emotional disturbances in his subjects was Ror-schach's ink-blot test. These inkblots are meaningless, but most people imagine them to be a variety of things. Since the ink-blot test themselves are meaningless, the things that a person sees in them are merely ideas projected onto the blots from the person's mind. Thus the Rorschach test is really an "X-ray"

of an individual's entire personality structure. In this way it is possible, by analyzing an individual's responses to the test, to reveal hidden conflicts which may be a disturbing factor in his intellectual and emotional life.

Through the use of case study material and Rorschach's test it was possible to uncover severe emotional disturbances of some sort in each of the 66 cases. Such emotional maladjustments, when removed by treatment, might enable the child to carry on normal educational functions. The results of this study convinced Jolles that mental deficiency, which could not be accounted for by neurological or organic factors, is a symptom of personality disorder rather than an indication of limited mental ability.

This is a new hypothesis, but not a great deal has been done about it.
To solve the problem of the importance of personality adjustment as a factor in the etiology of mental deficiency will require a long study of so-called mental defectives of this class by all the techniques available. Jolles feels the material gathered in his study gives a good start and should aid eventually in the establishment of the place of the I. Q. in the evaluation of the mentally retarded.

In the current study of 66 children there was no child below 10 or over 15, the average age being 12-58. Intelligence quotients of the group ran from 40 to 79 with an average of 68.85. The mental deficiency of those studied could not in any way be accounted for by neurological or organic defects. Most of the subjects came from population centers exceeding 30,000.
